

Partnerships Benefit Community and the Environment in Carroll County

The Natural Resources Conservation Service in partnership with the Carroll County Soil Conservation District, Carroll County Road Commission and the Chickasaw-Shiloh Resource Conservation & Development Council implemented a "Road Bank Stabilization Project" just south of Clarksburg in Carroll County.

The organizations worked together to correct a severe erosion problem along the road bank in order to prevent further problems with water quality and flooding.

The project consisted of approximately 700 linear feet of road bank stabilization. Materials used to stabilize the area were warm season grasses, coconut rolls, and straw/grass mats. Warm season grasses do more than help stabilize the roadbank, they also provide wildlife habitat for species like songbirds.
